CRY aloud. Spare not. Lift up thy voice like a trumpet. Oh that I had the lungs of Stentor, or if I had the wings of a Seraph! I would croſs the wide Atlantick in a moment, and deliver a faithful meſſage to the dear, dear Mother Country.

Forbear, my good old matron, any longer to give heed to the lies that are told you of your own children. As you would not forfeit that character of wiſdom, of equity and generoſity, for which you have been for ages paſt ſo juſtly famed; as you would not be deceived to your own real ſubſtantial injury, if not ruin, which may Heaven avert; ceaſe to regard the idle tattle, or rather the malignant whiſpers, of thoſe who have too long been endeavouring to impreſs your mind with unreaſonable jealouſies of your colonies. They have told you, we know they have, that it is the intention of America to deſpiſe your conſtitutional authority, to break all connexions with you, and to become independent; and when I conſider the character and ſtations of ſome of theſe defamers, I cannot wonder you are diſpoſed to give credit to their reports. But believe me, for I aſſure you you may do it with ſafety, the colonies love, eſteem, and honour you. You are the root from whence they ſprung; they venerate you as their parent; they are bound to you by the ties of blood. Provoke not your children to wrath, leſt they be diſcouraged. While you treat them well, and ſurely they have a right to ſuch treatment, take my word for it they never will abate their filial reſpect for you. Thoſe who tell you otherwiſe are vile calumniators; they are your enemies, your worſt enemies, more inveterate than the haughty powers of France and Spain, and would make it their ſport to ſee an open rupture between you and us. Were we not eaſy and contented when you repealed the Stamp Act? We were, but they had the inſolence to tell you otherwiſe; and reflect —— Have you not too readily believed it? You have, my dear good mother, indeed you have; at leaſt ſuffer me to tell you I think you have, elſe whence is it that we are threatened with correction? Nay, your enemies and ours are now exulting with hopes of laſhing us with whips and ſcorpions; an armed force to keep us in awe is their conſtant talk. Is it poſſible, think you, that your own offspring can bear to be told that ere long they ſhall be ſlaves to ſycophants and tools! wretches whom we ever deſpiſed, but can never dread.

When you repealed the Stamp Act we were ſatisfied; content was in every heart, and every countenance was ſerene; and the tranquillity was undiſturbed until we were impudently told to our faces what we are ſlow, ſlow to believe, that it was your fixed determination to enſlave us. Could we have believed it, what muſt have been our ſentiments of our mother! Suppoſe it to be falſe, how intolerable is the inſolence towards you principally, as well as towards us! While Britain remains wiſe, ſhe will never take ſuch meaſures as will without doubt deſtroy herſelf; as long as ſhe is virtuous ſhe will not injure her colonies, upon the partial repreſentations of their pretended friends or open enemies; ſhe who has ſo long been the ſcourge of tyrants will never ſet up a tyranny; while ſhe preſides over the world, the umpire of nations, the ſupport of the liberties of mankind, ſhe will never attempt to enſlave her own children. Or, ſhould ſhe (the imagination is diſtreſſing) ſhould ſhe at ſome diſtant period (the inſtability of human things is ſuch) forgive, O ye pious anceſtors of Britain, ye guardians of their liberties and ours, O PITT, and all ye patriots of the preſent time, forgive the thought, and I will utter it, ſhould Britain at ſome diſtant period become a tyrant, and forge chains for America (far diſtant muſt that period be) would America ſubmit to her tyranny? I need not expect an anſwer. Slavery, my dear mother, we cannot think of; we deteſt it. If this be a crime, remember we ſucked it with your milk. We boaſt of our freedom, and we have your example for it. We talk the language we have always heard you ſpeak. Britons will never be ſlaves. This is your own language, and your children have learnt it of you: We muſt be free, and leave the fair inheritance to our children. Do you blame us, can you blame us, for imitating the noble examples of your fathers and ours! What mean thoſe ſeas of blood which they ſhed to tranſmit the bleſſing of freedom to you and to us! Will you part with that freedom? No, you will ever maintain it. Would you deprive us of it? You will not attempt it, until you ſhall be infatuated by the artful and malicious inſinuations of your enemies and ours. For God's ſake, be cautious of being deceived by them; they are deſigning men, artful enough to deceive the very elect. All we want is to ſtand before you, upon a footing with them. We are ready to anſwer what they allege againſt us. Be you the judge, and judge righteous judgment. Then will you ceaſe to meditate ſeverities againſt thoſe whoſe affection for you is natural, and, if it be not your own fault, will be as laſting as your exiſtence.

PRINCE GEORGE, Sept. 28, 1767.

RUN AWAY from the ſubſcriber, the 22d of this inſtant, three ſlaves, viz. JUPITER, alias GIBB, a Negro fellow, about 35 years of age, about 6 feet high, knock kneed, flat footed, the right knee bent in more than the left, has ſeveral ſcars on his back from a ſevere whipping he lately had at Suſſex court-houſe, having been tried there for ſtirring up the Negroes to an inſurrection, being a great Newlight preacher. ROBIN, about 25 years of age, a ſtout fellow, about 6 feet high, has a film over one of his eyes, a ſore on one of his ſhins, and is brother to Gibb. DINAH, an old wench, very large, near 6 feet high; ſhe has a remarkable ſtump of a thumb, occaſioned by a whitlow, by which the bones of the firſt joint came out, and is mother to the two fellows. NORFOLK, Sept. 5, 1767.

THIS day his Majesty's sloop of war the HORNET, commanded by a certain JEREMIAH MORGAN, dropped down from her moorings opposite to the town. The evening of that day (as we may suppose) a bloody riotous plan was concerted to impress seamen, without consulting the Mayor, or any other magistrate; and preparations were accordingly made to carry it into execution. The tender was equipped with guns and men, and under cover of night the said Morgan, accompanied with several of his officers and about 30 seamen, came ashore at the publick wharf, and so disposed of the tender that she entirely commanded all parts of it, lying with her broadside near to the outer end, and bringing her swivel guns, which were well loaded, to that side which faced the wharf. Thus having made the necessary dispositions either for an attack or retreat, they walked up to the tavern adjoining the wharf; and after taking a cheerful glass, to inspire the Captain with a little Dutch courage, he, the said Morgan, attended by his officers and lifeguards, at XI at night proceeded to that part of the town resorted to by seamen, where they began with oaths and threats to the inhabitants to open their doors instantly, or they would break them down, saying they had the Mayor's warrant: The poor intimidated people as soon as possible opened their doors, and they rushed into their houses like so many tigers and wolves, seizing every man they met with, and those who made the least resistance they knocked down without ceremony, and lugged them away like dogs on board the tender, and from thence on board the Hornet. Several were carried away in this manner, with little or no opposition; but some time after, words and blows running high among them, the watchmen alarmed the adjacent inhabitants, by calling out A riot by man of war's men, with Capt. Morgan at their head! The noise of which in a short time reached the ears of some of the magistrates, particularly Mr. Paul Loyal, who, scarcely taking time to put on his clothes, ran into the street; and when he got about 50 yards from his door met two men, with large clubs, holding a third fast, and dragging him along: He immediately asked what they were after, upon which the poor prisoner at once replied that he was pressed; Mr. Loyal instantly seized them by the collar, and ordering the prisoner to lay hold on one, which he cheerfully did, they turned the tables on poor Jacks, and immediately hurried them to gaol. By this time some more of the inhabitants appeared; but as the drum had then begun to beat (our alarm for fire) every one left his house unarmed. It was then told Mr. Loyal that Morgan was gone towards the wharf, dragging some men he had pressed. On this information he hasted down as fast as possible, accompanied by about 6 men, who had then joined him. Before they got to the wharf Mr. Loyal observed Morgan surrounded by 8 or 10 armed men, drawn up in form under a tree at the head of the wharf. He very calmly desired those with him to stand back, and he alone would go up to Morgan and see to settle the matter amicably. Accordingly he went up and accosted Morgan in a very mild genteel manner, asking him the reason of disturbing the inhabitants, and why he stood there armed; his answer instantly was, That if he stirred one foot he would be through his body by G-d, and presented a drawn sword to his breast. Mr. Loyal very coolly told him he was unarmed, and was surprised that Capt. Morgan should dread any thing from him, who came not with an intention to fight him. He repeated the same words over and over again, refusing to know Mr. Loyal after he had told him his name, saying, and making several passes at the same time, I won't know you by G-d; but such were the effects of fear, and such will always be the effects of a panick when it seizes the heart of a poltroon, that the passes and lunges he made were so widely distant that Mr. Loyal thinks if he had been an elephant of an overgrown size Morgan might possibly have hit his head or his tail.

The King of the Hornets had now sounded a retreat, which, as Mr. Loyal advanced upon him, became more precipitate, in so much that Mr. Loyal begged of him to stay; that it was a shame for the Captain of a Man of War to run and leave his men, when there was no danger. In his retreat he several times called out Hornets! which was the signal for his lifeguards to attend and shield his person; and they in a moment took their posts on his right and left, so near that he could touch them with his elbows. Under this escort he reached the tender, and then (like a cock that fights best on his own dunghill) he pulled up fresh courage, knew Mr. Loyal, flourished his sword at him, abused him and every magistrate in town in the most scurrilous language, and offered them to fight him on the head of a barrel of gunpowder.

At this juncture Mr. George Abyvon, the present Mayor, got down to the tender with at least 100 more, made himself known to Captain Morgan, and in his Majesty's name commanded the peace: He damned him and every man in Norfolk, said he knew what he was about, and could answer it, and in a moment gave orders to fire; but not being immediately obeyed, he again called out, Fire, fire, G-d damn you, fire! The men, who then held the matches in their hands ready lighted, began to blow them; on which Mr. Loyal, who stood very near, asked one of them if he was so mad as to obey his Captain's orders, telling him that if he did he would not survive a moment afterwards. The man had the prudence not to fire, and there was immediately a proposal made, and agreed to, to board the tender and take Morgan out; on hearing of which, he that was the moment before a Hector or an Ajax, flung himself into the boat that was alongside, pulled a man in after him, and rowed off to the man of war like a lusty fellow. There being no other boat to pursue the flying hero, and the command then devolving upon Mr. Hicks, his lieutenant, who behaved genteely on the occasion, things were soon amicably settled. About 10 of his men were apprehended and put into gaol, who on the Monday following were discharged.

N. B. The tender lay so far from the end of the wharf that an active man could but with difficulty get on board; they had a plank, which was hauled in as soon as the Captain got on board.

THE above, I believe, is a true narration of facts, as they occured on the night of the 5th instant.

GEORGE ABYVON.

THOMAS MOORE.

KING WILLIAM, Auguſt 25, 1767.

FREDERICKSBURG, August 25, 1767.

AFTER nine years experience, I am convinced a Virginia eſtate interferes too much with my profeſſion to admit of attendance enough, without doing injuſtice to thoſe who depend on the latter; and without due attention to the firſt, its loſſes will very much abridge the profits of the laſt. For theſe reaſons I intend to ſell the following LANDS and SLAVES, at the times and on the terms hereafter mentioned, viz.

4875 acres of land, being part of 6500 contained in one tract on Shenando river, in the county of Frederick, in Virginia. It is ſufficient to recommend this land to ſay that it contains more than a moderate proportion of low ground. The ſale to be on the premiſes the firſt day of December next, if fair, otherwiſe next fair day, before when it will be laid off in lots for the convenience of the buyers. One half of the purchaſe money to be paid by the 10th of April next, the other half by the 10th of March 1769. Any perſon inclinable to view the land may be ſhown it by Mr. Edward Snigars, who lives adjoining. Five per cent. diſcount for ready money will be allowed on the firſt payment, and twelve and a half per cent. on the ſecond.

Alſo to be ſold, at private ſale, one other tract on Four Mile run, about 5 miles from the town of Alexandria, in the county of Fairfax, containing 1166 acres; part is very good, and part mean; but as it is level, it is capable of being improved to advantage. There are ſeveral acres very fit for meadow, and a ſtream within it which is very conſtant, and ſufficient even for a tub mill.

Alſo one other tract on Pohick run, containing 1059 acres, about 5 miles from the town of Colcheſter, in the ſaid county of Fairfax. I never ſaw this land, ſo cannot vouch for its quality, but I preſume it is like the neighbouring lands which are occupied; and, as there are two tenants on this, I ſuppoſe they think it is worth ſeating. The tenants are at will, ſo no encumbrance.

Likewiſe to be ſold, at publick ſale, on the 16th of next December, at my mill plantation on Little river, in the county of Loudoun, two miles from Captain William Weſt's ordinary, 40 SLAVES, 28 workers, the reſt ſizable children; they are likely ſlaves, and the young ones remarkably ſo, having been well fed and clothed from their birth. Alſo all the ſtocks of horſes, black cattle, hogs, and ſheep; corn, wheat, rye, oats, hay, and fodder (of which there will be a large quantity) and all the plantation utenſils belonging to two quarters. The black cattle are remarkably fine, ſome of the horſes are blooded, and a great number of the hogs will then be fattened for pork. The ſlaves will be ſold on the ſame terms with the Frederick lands, and the ſtocks, &c. for three months credit only, with a diſcount of two and a half per cent. for ready money.

At the ſame time will be let, for lives or years, the ſaid mill plantation, with 400 or more acres of land adjoining (to include 352 acres lately purchaſed of Mr. Craven Peyton) whereon are many valuable improvements; among which is a very conſtant and well accuſtomed tub mill, with a bolt to go by water, and floors, convenient for merchant work. It is ſo well ſituated as to have earned 120 barrels of Indian corn a year, beſides a large quantity of wheat and rye. Alſo a double pitched framed barn, with three floors for ſtoring threſhed grain, well ſhingled, and underpinned with ſtone, and is about three years old. Likewiſe a large framed houſe, lately built by Mr. Peyton for his dwelling houſe; it is not finiſhed, but is well ſhingled, and weather-boarded with feather-edge plank, and has a good cellar walled with ſtone. There is now on this plantation about 30 acres of meadow, well ſet with timothy, and 150 more may be made with very little expenſe. But it is to be obſerved that, as a tract to which this propoſed tenement adjoins is thought to contain a great quantity of iron ore, if a furnace or other works ſhould be built thereon, then the leaſe for this tenement to determine on the firſt day of November next, after the workmen or labourers ſhall begin to erect the works, or dig the ore.

Alſo for ſale the ſaid adjoining tract, together with the tenement laſt mentioned; the whole containing 17,200 acres, on eaſy terms, and very long credit for greateſt part of the money. It is thought to be very fit for iron works, and to contain an inexhauſtible quantity of iron ore, and wood and water enough for two furnaces, and ſeveral ſingle forges. There are two ſtreams within this tract; the one about 5 miles below the other, is always the ſame, and is fed by a ſpring which riſes at the top of a mountain, about half a mile from where the furnace would be fixed. It is more than ſufficient for a furnace and merchant mill. The upper ſtream is called Little river, and for nine months in the year would ſupply four tub mills. I ſpeak of dry years, for until lately it never failed ſupplying my tub mill, which conſumes a prodigious quantity of water; and, at the drieſt ſeaſon, this mill grinds about two hours every morning. The ſtream is ſo land locked that it is the opinion of an iron maſter, who accompanied me to the place in July 1765 (a dry year) that it will ſupport ſeveral ſingle forges very near each other; and with reſervoirs, which may be made with very little expenſe, it might be made perpetual. At the time he attended me the ſeaſon had been very dry for a conſiderable time, and my overſeer informed us that the water was nearly at the loweſt; and then, from an experiment, we found the fountain yielded as much as could be diſcharged through a trough 24 inches ſquare. Many thouſand acres of this land are extremely fine, and the whole well covered with wood, and affords an excellent range for ſtock. Its ſituation is very good as to inland trade for iron, and the land carriage is 45 miles to Alexandria, 32 to Colcheſter, and 36 to the town of Dumfries, on Quantico creek; the lower ſtream is 5 miles nearer to Colcheſter and Dumfries, to which the roads are equal to the beſt natural road in America, and the neighbourhood is well ſettled with Pennſylvania and Jerſey farmers. I have neither time nor ſkill to make ſuch aſſays as are neceſſary to diſcover the quantity or quality of the ore, but if any perſons incline to make experiments they are at full liberty to do ſo, and my overſeer, now on the premiſes, will ſhow all the bloſſoms on the land; and if ſuch perſons become purchaſers or partners, they ſhall be amply allowed for their ſkill and labour in ſuch inquiries.

An unexceptionable title will be made, with general warranty, and bond and ſecurity will be expected of the purchaſers. Beſides, the lands will not be conveyed until the purchaſe money is paid; and, as a collateral ſecurity, I ſhall inſiſt on a bill of ſale for the ſlaves.

A SCHEME,

For diſpoſing of, by way of LOTTERY, the LAND and TENEMENTS under mentioned, being the entire towns of Rocky Ridge and Shockoe, lying at the Falls of James river, and the land thereunto adjoining.

THE advantageous ſituation of this eſtate is too well known to require a particular deſcription, though it may be neceſſary to inform the publick that the obſtructions through the Falls, and in other parts of the river above, will ſhortly be removed, and the river made navigable to the ſaid towns: The navigation will thereby be extended, and made both ſafe and eaſy for upwards of two hundred miles above the ſaid Falls, and a communication opened to the weſtern frontier of the middle colonies, whereby there will not be more than ſixty or ſeventy miles portage from James river to the Ohio; ſo that the immenſe treaſure of that valuable country muſt neceſſarily be brought to market to one or other of the aboveſaid towns, which will occaſionally raiſe the rents, and enhance the value, of the lands and tenements under mentioned, beyond the powers of conception.
